WAITERS ON
WILD RAMPAGETurned in False Fire Alarms and Threw Bricks Through Windows

New York, Jan. 24.—A series of demonstrations and disturbances occurred in the hotel and restaurant district of this city tonight, when thousands of striking waiters and sympathizers overran some of the principal streets and engaged in serious rioting.

The rioting followed successes by several thousand hotel employees in crippling the dining service in a number of big hotels.

Falling to tie up other hostilities and restaurants, the riotous elements, carried on a warfare of jostling patrons, turning in false alarms of fire, attacking waiters who have not walked out, and throwing bricks through windows.

When the theatre audiences began to pour forth on their way home, the disturbances were still overflowing the sidewalks. Men and women in evening clothes were forced into the streets as gangs of idlers swept down upon them. Many fights followed when escorts retaliated with fists.

The life of one proprietor, James B. Regan of the Hotel Kalkreuth, has been threatened, it was said, tonight. Regan has thrown a guard of special policemen each man more than six feet tall around his hotel and has announced his intention of keeping rioting waiters away from his doors. Regan yesterday discharged his entire force of waiters, having anticipated a strike and hired men in their places.

At every police station in the hotel district, the reserves were prepared for a call at any moment and squad after squad were sent out to quell disturbances.

In the course of the disorder 200 striking waiters stormed the Ritz Carleton Hotel and swung one of the big revolving doors from its socket in their rush. Others from various points outside threw stones and succeeded in breaking windows as high as the sixth story of the Carleton House department where police commissioner Waldo has rooms. In the course of the attack several pistol shots were fired, by which side in the scrimmage was not apparent at the moment. As the result of the disturbance under his window, commissioner Waldo personally summoned police reserves from the nearest station.

FIVE INDICTED.

Alleged To Be Wire Tappers and Confidence Men.

Chicago, Jan. 24.—Five men alleged to be wire tappers and confidence men involved in the defense of the Kirby Savings bank scandal were indicted yesterday by the grand jury. The indictments against the men who, Dr. William T. Kirby, head of the defunct private institution, said, swindled him out of $20,000 of the missing funds came as a climax to many sensational brought out in the United States district court.

Judge K. M. Landis adjudged Dr. Kirby and his wife, Mrs. Margaret T. Kirby, guilty of contempt, gave them an indeterminate sentence in jail and pronounced the "wire tapper" story a "frame-up" and the entire defense a "mess of perjury."

Those indicted were: Daniel S. Kinnally, cigar dealer; Charles Kussell, alleged to have brought Dr. Kirby to a "poolroom" in Michigan avenue; John H. Strommeier, represented by the defense as the "wire tapper"; John D. Smiley, represented as the "doorman to the poolroom" and Patrick Kane, represented as the man who rented the poolroom.

FRITZ HANSON WON.

Jack Collins of Brockton Was Defeated Wrestler.

Lancaster, Jan. 25.—Jack Collins, the "human cat" from Brockton, Mass., went down in defeat last night before Fritz Hanson, welterweight champion of the world, in a bout at Polson opera house witnessed by a fair-sized crowd.

The initial fall was Collins' own in 26 minutes and 30 seconds, by a head chancery and half Nelson. The second and third went to Hanson by a head scissors and bar hammerlock in 13 minutes and 30 seconds, and a head scissors and full hammerlock in 25 minutes and 30 seconds. J. H. Kilmourby was the referee.

Portsmouth Brewery Team
Looking for Fishermen to

In sporting circles it is said that a well known Water street man wants a put the fishermen up against the Portsmouth Brewing Co. in a tug of war contest. The brewery men have deposited $50 and are looking for the men from the water front or their manager to come across with one darby. They say the fifty is only a starter and that "Cappy" can make any part of $200 if he thinks that the men with the hook and line can make good on the cleats.

MAY VISIT
UNITED STATESKing Alfonso Contemplates
Trip to This Country
Next Summer.

London, Jan. 24.—It is stated that there is a probability that King Alfonso of Spain will pay a visit to the United States, possibly next summer, should the political situation in his kingdom permit of his doing so. It seems that Alfonso has been greatly interested on the subject of a trip to the United States since a visit to that country by his war ministers son, and often has expressed a desire to make a journey there.

It is understood that the matter is now being seriously considered by the Spanish government with a view to carrying out the desires of the King.

During a recent conversation with Senor Azcarate, the Republican leader and vice president of the Spanish chamber of deputies, King Alfonso remarked that he was considering making a visit to the American continent.

SOLUTION FOR
R. R. PROBLEMGovernor Foss Suggests a New England Transportation Committee
as One Check

Boston, Jan. 24.—The solution of New England's transportation problem is to be founded in the opinion of Governor Foss, in the creation of a New England transportation commission and state representation on railroad directorates.

The Governor's views are expressed in a letter addressed to the New England Governors who are to meet here tomorrow for a transportation conference.

Governor Foss says in part: "It seems to me that until we have settled our transportation problem, we cannot feel sure of our future development. We of New England have the overshadowing question in common, and the suggestion has been repeatedly made that we might make greater progress toward its solution by more cooperation between the New England states.

"When we see the limitations upon the powers of our state commissions, acting separately in such fundamental matters as the corporate powers of our railroad lines, we see the common in-

HOTEL INSPECTION.

Innovation in House Laws in Maine Is Proposed.

Augusta, Me., Jan. 24.—An innovation of house laws in Maine was proposed in the legislature today when representative Clark of Portland introduced an act relating to the inspection of hotels, inns and boarding houses and creating the office of a hotel commissioner, to be appointed by the governor and to receive $1800 a year and expenses. All persons conducting hotels, inns or boarding houses must procure a license from the commissioner. If the bill is enacted into law, and he is given police power to enter any such place at reasonable hours for inspection.

SUPPORT FOR TAFT EXECUTIVE ORDER

National Civil Service Reform League Urges Protests to Congress.

Washington, Jan. 25.—On Jan. 12 the House of Representatives, in committee of the whole, adopted without roll call, by a vote of 40 to 18, an amendment to the postoffice appropriation bill to annul the President's executive orders of Sept. 20, 1910, and Oct. 18, 1912.

The first of these orders classified about 2000 assistant postmasters and 1500 clerks in postoffices of the first and second class, and the second classified about 35,000 fourth class postmasters left unclassified by President Roosevelt in 1908. When the amendment, however, came to a vote in the House on Jan. 14, it was defeated 107 to 131.

The repeal of these executive orders would restore about 40,000 places in the postal service to the spoils system, says the Civil Service Reform League in a statement. The assistant postmasters and clerks have been on a merit basis for over two years, with the result that there is now a force of experienced administrators in the postoffice whose heads are political officials subject to displacement on a change of administration by new and inexperienced postmasters. The classification of the fourth class postmasters has been tried in the territory north of the Ohio and east of the Mississippi for over three years, the statement continues.

"The experience has shown that if these places are taken out of politics, the result is greatly increased efficiency. A marked improvement in postoffice facilities and buildings, equipment and attention to business follows the assurance which classification gives of reasonable permanency of tenure. The classification of the balance of the offices on Oct. 15, 1912, completes the reform and is a common-sense step toward economy and efficiency. This reform the democratic have proposed to undo."

The party comes into power on March 4, after sixteen years of republican administration. The question of the attitude of its leaders toward the civil service will determine at the beginning whether the party is to have the confidence and respect of the people. The situation was exactly described by President Eliot in his address of president of the league at its annual meeting in Milwaukee Dec. 1 and 2. He said:

"The democratic party, soon coming into power, had a precious opportunity to insist itself in the favorable regard of many millions of intelligent and patriotic Americans without distinction of party. It can turn back from the capital the burden of hungry democratic office seekers that will inevitably multiply there. It can refuse to turn out competent and faithful officials in the higher civil service, although they were in many cases republican patronage appointees."

"It can refuse to disturb carefully selected by the half-way merit system."

The Prize That Comes From Thankful Portsmouth People.

One kidney remedy has known merit. Portsmouth people rely upon it. That remedy is Dean's Kidney Pills. Portsmouth testimony proves it reliable.

Arthur A. Hall, machinist, 375 Pleasant St., Portsmouth, N. H., says: "I think as highly of Dean's Kidney Pills today as when I first used them. For some time my kidneys were out of order and caused my back to become very lame and painful. I finally got so bad that I could not attend to my work, as my sudden movement sent sharp twinges through my body. Dean's Kidney Pills, procured from Philbrick's Drug Store, came to my relief and I have had practically no trouble from my kidneys since using them. Whenever I hear anyone complaining of backache, I advise a trial of Dean's Kidney Pills and know of several persons who have acted on my suggestion and have been benefited."

men met up by the executive orders of President Roosevelt and Taft, and repudiate these orders by a thoroughgoing battle. It can prevent all office holders from rendering political party service. It can show by its actions that it does not believe that any party advantage can be gained through the patronage method of appointment to public office, and that it recognizes the right of the people to the maintenance and extension of the merit system.

"This league will watch with vigilance and the keenest interest the action concerning civil service reform about to be taken by the democratic party under its new leaders, believing that action to be more important to the democratic party and to the country than the party action on the tariff, banking and currency, the foreign policy, or the treatment of insular possessions, and more likely to determine the destiny of the democratic party for the next eight years than any other public policy. The reason for this preponderance of civil service reform over all other political issues is that that reform touches intimately every other governmental improvement and affects profoundly the morality and efficiency of American citizenship."

In the party to support the merit principles of appointment in the public service, or to revert to the spoils system? If the latter course is to be followed, the people should know who is responsible for it.

The President-elect is a staunch friend of the principles of civil service reform and has pledged himself at all times to do what he can "to promote these principles in practice." The attitude of members of Congress is to be judged by their deeds. Their votes on the Callahan amendment shows whether they employ in civil service reform or in the spoils system.

REGULATING THE TELEPHONE

The Policy Which Mr. Vail Has Carried Out.

Attorney General Wickersham's announcement that he has abandoned his purpose to attack the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., under the Sherman anti-trust law referring instead the whole subject to the interstate commerce commission for investigation and regulation, is not only a victory of Mr. Vail's Company, but is incidentally a triumph of common sense. Congress has already lodged authority over these carriers of intelligence with the interstate commerce commission, and here the authority belongs. To a body of experts can be explained the essential conditions of wire transmission by which telephony is an inevitable natural monopoly. If the Sherman law when enforced to the letter would establish in any given territory competition between rival telephone services, so much the worse for the law, as there is no sense in competitive telephony. The communities that have tried this are emphatic in declaring that they have reached that conclusion.

In an interview in the Boston News Bureau last week, Mr. Vail called attention to the fact that in the various communities which Mr. Wickersham has had under view, the company had always secured the approval of the local authorities in the steps which it had taken. When an independent line had come in his way, and profers for its sale had been made, his first answer has been that the approval of the local authorities was essential to his discussion.

The tendencies of late West and East, have been toward telephone consolidation. The bringing of the Western Union into consolidation with the Bell system of telephony has been of the greatest public convenience, too, making every telephone service by day and night, an equivalent of an old-fashioned telegraph service.

This is not saying that the telephone business does not need serious regulation, or that the public has nothing to fear from telephone monopoly. But because the Mississippi river needs dikes, and levees and constant scrutiny, is an argument for the establishment of two parallel agencies to perform the same transportation service, Congress at the time it brought express companies within the scope of the interstate commission, wisely added the telegraph and telephone, just as Massachusetts has lodged local telephone regulation with the highway commission.

The federal body, now that the responsibility in this line has been turned over to it, by Mr. Wickersham, will doubtless take the most comprehensive study of the telephone system which has ever been made. Its results will go toward establishing an American policy regarding these carriers of intelligence. Boston Herald.

WHAT IS A CHURCH FOR

(New York World)

It is not necessary to be understood that the members of the First Congregational church of Schenectady are moved by political prejudice in excluding the pastor and his followers from the city and his followers, from further use of the church property. They seem to be guided by a notion becomes less effective as such when rather than their spiritual shepherd, at the same time engaged in holding political office in conducting a social political propaganda, and in standing before the courts elsewhere in the state as an exponent of Free Speech.

They complain that they have no pastor who visits the sick, buries the dead, or who offers the consolation of the Christian faith in its bereaved or distressed members. They are doubtless very old fashioned in this. They should perhaps want a pastor whose time is taken up with everything and anything except what he is employed to do. They seem still to be the essential religion of Rev. Mr. Lamm's outside activities for social justice. But their idea of what a church is for has been honored by centuries of the need which humanity feels, and we will still suppose that it retains some abiding force.

Joseph Goldstein was arraigned before United States Commissioner Hodgman, in the federal building on Friday afternoon charged with receiving stolen property.

Goldstein had been under arrest by the local police for a barrel of metal castings, which he was shipping to himself in Rochester, N. H., and it is alleged that a good part of the metal had been stolen from the navy yard.

A NEW VICE PRESIDENT FOR THE MELLON LINES

Boston—The directors of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Co., Friday elected A. R. Whaley vice president in charge of operations.

As respects the convenience and safety of the traveling public this is the most important position on the New Haven road. Mr. Whaley assumes his new duties Feb. 1 and it is probable that the contemplated change in passenger schedules will not be put into operation until after he has been at least two weeks in control of train operations.

Mr. Whaley has been for seven years in charge of the Grand Central Terminal at 42nd street and also superintendent of the electric zone of the New York Central, which extends as far as Croton on the Hudson and White Plains on the Harlem division.

Whaley was formerly superintendent of the New York division of the New Haven and, therefore, his return in the New Haven, which is gradually expanding its electrical zone eastward, is very natural. He will make his headquarters at the Grand Central Terminal, and in Boston, and will probably be a good deal on the line. Whaley has made a phenomenal record the past seven years in handling 550 to 750 train movements per day in and out of the Grand Central Station with an average delay during the seven years of reconstruction of less than a minute per train.

Alfred H. Whaley was born near Providence fifty years ago and started his railroad career when 16 years of age as a freight brakeman on the old Providence & Worcester at $1.62 a day. That was the time when brakemen on local freights worked twelve to eighteen hours and unloaded their freight cars at the depot if there was not more than two or three tons of freight in a car, trundling boxes and barrels on their shoulders right into the stations. There were no train brakes at that time except in the muscles of the brakemen, who were happy and contented at their work, twisting their backs and rustling their freight through, knowing neither day nor night; rain nor sunshine; and resting only when their runs were completed and the goods landed.

The career of Whaley from a freight brakeman to a position valued at $20,000 to $25,000 per year, as the operating vice president of the New Haven system, spans the most epoch-making generation of thirty-four years in this country. From brakeman on both freight and passenger trains, baggage master, freight and passenger conductor, trainmaster, yard master, and general agent at Providence of all the railroads centering there and eventually consolidating the Providence yards, and superintendent of the Worcester division, he came to have charge of the first heavy traction electric installation in this country which was at Providence on the line between Providence and Fall River. Whaley has, therefore, been the first and the last in heavy electric traction operations in this country.

He became superintendent of the New York division in 1904 and in 1906 was chosen by the joint roads as their representative in charge of the New York Terminal upon the beginning of the construction and electrical installation for this greatest electrically-operated passenger terminal in the world. All the electric and terminal change-over has been under him and he has charge of not only the operation but of the power houses, roadbed and equipment and has been chairman of the committee of seven on auxiliary facilities which has passed upon the work of more than a dozen sub-committees in more than 100 meetings, every one of which Whaley has presided over and passed upon everything to construction for operation, from items of minor import up to seven millions. He is the individual landlord or rent collector, as well as constructor and operator for $200,000,000 of property of which the $120,000,000 terminal will be finished and fully thrown open to the public probably within 48 hours of the day Mr. Whaley graduates therefrom to represent President Mellon in looking after New Haven's half of the terminal and the entire train and electrical operation of the New Haven system.

Whaley believes in "system, organization and discipline fair and firm." He says "If you are fair you can be firm."

TO START MOVING POTATOES

Bangor, Me., Jan. 24.—The Bangor & Aroostook Railroad made arrangements today to move all potatoes left in transit Saturday by the strike of the engineers and firemen. A freight train made up of loaded potato cars left Millinocket about 9 this morning, bound south, and a locomotive was sent from Millinocket north, to make up a train of potato cars left at Oakfield. These are to be delivered to the Maine Central Railroad at Northern Maine Junction and to the terminal of the Bangor & Aroostook at Stockton.

About 100 cars of potatoes were left at various points along the line by the strikers last Saturday night. One train was sent down Sunday from Millinocket, but beyond that no others were moved during the week up to today. Caretakers have been in charge of the cars, keeping them warm and the railroad has cooperated with the shippers in preventing damage by freezing.

As soon as the potatoes that were left on the road are taken care of it is claimed that other freight along the line will be moved.

The State Board of Arbitration and Conciliation, which has been instructed by the Governor to investigate the present situation, was in session here this morning. Several of the men connected with the striking engineers and firemen were before the board. It is understood that Chairman Bogue refused to give out the names of the witnesses or to talk of the plans of the board. He said that he would make no report other than the one to the Governor.

There is a new interest in the outcome of negotiations between the road and its conductors and trainmen. The latter have made a demand for an increase of 45 per cent in wages but Pres. Todd of the railroad insists that the advance cannot be granted. If this road holds to this position the men will meet on Monday and decide whether to join the striking engine crews.

NEW NIGHT LAMP

Exceptionally attractive is a new night lamp of small proportions which is just the thing for the bedside table. The lamp is similar in size and shape to the nursery. The pedestal of it is a colonial candlestick and is surmounted by a square barrel chimney having a circular hole in its hat through which the smoke may escape. Fitting over this chimney is an asbestos lined shade made of fluted wide ribbon, finished at top and bottom edges with narrow fringe of frayed silk. Even should the chimney crack and shatter the asbestos lining would prevent the shade from catching fire and the broad base of the pedestal prevents the lamp from overturning unless by an accident of an extraordinary character.

For a mild, easy action of the bowels, try Doan's Regulax, a modern laxative. 25 cents at all stores.

KNOX'S REPLY NOT PLEASING TO ENGLAND

London, Jan. 24.—Sec. of State Knox reply to Sir Edward Grey on the question of the Panama Canal tolls is found unsatisfactory by those evening newspapers which comment on it.

The Westminster Gazette, generally looked upon as the mouthpiece of the Government says the reply does not halt the door, but that it can scarcely be said to be satisfactory. The suggestion that, at any time it is thought British shipping is shown injustice, the United States is prepared to submit the facts to a court of inquiry, the newspaper says, leaves the door open to a long series of bickerings, which would do much to undermine the good relations of the two countries.

The Pall Mall Gazette says that "coming from any other country than the United States, the tone of Sec. Knox' reply would be deeply resented in this country," and concludes:

"Unless international law overrides municipal law when treaty rights clash with it, international law has no existence, and peaceful intercourse between states becomes impossible."

PLAINTIFF LOSES IN SUIT AGAINST W. U.

Boston, Jan. 24.—A finding in favor of the Western Union Telegraph Co., was returned by a jury in the U. S. District court today in a suit brought against the company by the John J. Quigley Theatrical Agency, which sued for $10,000. The verdict was brought in after six hours' deliberation by the jury, during which it returned once to Judge Morton for instructions. The Quigley concern charged that, because of an alleged malicious telegram sent over the Western Union wires and signed with a fictitious name, the business of the agency had suffered greatly. The Western Union disclaimed responsibility.

Farmers' Credits.

Agricultural development is one of the means commonly advocated to check the advancing cost of living, and this subject is attracting the attention of leading financiers throughout the country. It is pointed out that investments in the field of agriculture offer better inducements to capital than in mining, manufacturing or transportation. In evidence of this it is pointed out that the prices of products at the farm are generally profitable, and will continue the prosperity of the farmers for years to come. In spite of decreased production in some lines, the grand total of value at the farms for the productions of 1912 is stated to exceed the value in any previous year by more than half a billion dollars.

Based on the census items of wealth production on farms, the grand total for 1912 is estimated to be $9,532,000,000. This unthinkable amount of wealth has been contributed to the nation in one year by the soil and by the farmers' live stock. It is more than twice the value of the wealth produced on farms in 1899, and it is about one-eighth more than the wealth produced in 1909.

During the last sixteen years the farmer has steadily increased his wealth production year by year, with the exception of 1911, when the value declined from that of the preceding year. If the wealth produced on farms in 1899 be regarded as 100, the wealth produced sixteen years ago is represented by 84, and that produced in 1912 by 202. During the sixteen years the farmers' wealth production increased 141 per cent. In this period the production of farms reached the grand total of $105,000,000,000, or about three-quarters of the present national wealth.

To simplify the financing of this great industry the department of agriculture has been making a study of agricultural credit, and collecting data on which possible legislation may be based. A schedule of questions was sent to 9000 persons in all of the rural counties of the United States. The inquiries went to about 3000 country bankers, about the same number of prominent farmers, and the remainder to country merchants and others. This investigation brought out the fact that a large share both of farmers owning their farms and of tenants renting farms, would spend more money in their farming operations if it could be more easily secured. In the opinion of those who answered the department's inquiries about 32 per cent. of the farmers whose credit is good would make use of borrowed money in excess of what they now use if it could be obtained as readily and cheaply as is done by those in other industries.—Mirror.

Character of the American Navy.

Recent ill-advised aspersions upon the character of the American navy have served the good purpose of bringing out some facts that may well be generally known. It is not true, as asserted, that the United States navy is recruited at haphazard or from the alien population. What is true is that of 73,364 applicants for enlistment last year only 17,713 were admitted to the service. The percentage of acceptances in recent years has ranged between 18 and 24. As to the general allegation that the United States goes outside of its own people in recruiting for the navy, the truth is that for the last year the requirement that naval recruits shall be United States citizens has been rigidly enforced. A more important and striking refutation of the charge that the United States navy is largely composed of aliens is to be found in the fact that 98.25 per cent. of the total force, as shown by the report of the last fiscal year, are United States citizens, while 90.20 per cent. of the enlisted men are native-born Americans. This is a remarkable showing for a comparatively young country.

The present percentage of aliens in the United States navy seems certain to be greatly diminished or to disappear in the near future. It is due now principally to reenlistment. Morals count for a great deal in the recruiting office. The standard at present is high, and it is not lowered to meet seeming exigencies. There is really no lack of good material from which to make selections. No nation has gone farther than the United States in the line of combining education with the naval service. That it is attractive to the men themselves is proved by the fact that in the last fiscal year 54 per cent. of those enlisted to reenlist did so.

Since it seems to be necessary that a navy shall be maintained, it is gratifying to know that the character of that navy is such as to stand close inspection. A few men of unstable ways on shore leave may so conduct themselves as to leave a very erroneous impression of the entire force. The great majority of the United States sailors are young men of good habits, and it is becoming more and more essential to their continuance in the service and to their advancement that their habits shall be good.—Christian Science Monitor.

In the absence of the great pomp and display that might have been devised had Miss Helen Miller Gould not chosen simply to attend the little Misses Helen and Dorothy Gould were cast for roles second to the principals in the Gould-Shepard wedding Jan. 22. These little girls are nieces of the bride, being daughters of Frank J. Gould. They acted as flower girls at the wedding. There were no other attendants of the bride. For several days in advance of the event the children were drilled in the parts they were to take at the ceremony. The accompanying picture was taken of them just as they were leaving their parents' home for a rehearsal. The one on the left is Helen.

PEOPLE'S OPINIONS

Should Remain Loyal to Party.

The leading question in the State of New Hampshire today is "Who will be elected United States senator?" After two weeks of voting, the election of any candidate yet named seems as far away as ever. At first it looked as though the leading democratic candidate, Mr. Hollis, would be a sure winner. "The Democrats were positive he would be elected. On the second ballot the republicans were afraid he would be, but the situation has now entirely changed. The democratic leaders are divided as to the advisability of putting Mr. Hollis out and trying another candidate, as candidates are plenty in both parties. Mr. Hollis' friends are begging to have him left in from one day to another. On the other hand the friends of Mr. Clarence E. Carr say it has been demonstrated that Mr. Hollis cannot win and that Mr. Carr should be given an opportunity to try his strength. Congressman-elect Reed has his ear to the ground, waiting for the word to jump into the race. The republicans are much pleased with the situation and well they might be, as all they have to do is to stick tight. No matter how long, and they can elect a republican United States senator on the progressive platform. The democratic leaders have tried all sorts of means to lead their man. They have tried to scare some republicans to vote for Hollis by saying they (the democrats) are going to vote for Mr. Carr. At first some republican members took some stock in this kind of talk, but soon found out it was only a bluff, which the democrats now admit. It is quite plain that all the republicans have to do to elect a republican senator is to stick together, which the republicans of the state feel sure they will do, if it takes all winter.

REPUBLICAN.

Mr. Editor:—

In your issue of the Herald of Monday the 20th, reference was made to a bill which passed the United States Senate on Saturday last, said bill having in view the pensioning of the Life Savers. The bill is worthy of extensive publicity, and especially so the citizens of this city, and vicinity. The passage of the bill has more than usual significance at the present time, inasmuch as there is a scheme at foot to consolidate, or to "swallow up" the Life Saving Service. This is the scheme of the Revenue Cutter Service and those who oppose this plan are such as are best informed of the very valuable services rendered by our Life Savers. We who have intimate acquaintances with the duties and perils of the Life Savers, should surely interest ourselves in their behalf.

These men face the fury of the blast, and are deserving of every honorable effort to better their condition, during service—and after retirement from faithful labors.

These men learn with much regret that Senator Burnham is not a candidate for reelection. They note his ability as a statesman, even if not deeply political, and they value the sentiment that as a friend to the people of this state, especially those of the working class, regarding of party race or color his retirement from public life is a distinct loss.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATION.

A special civil service examination will be held for the Portsmouth, N. H. postoffice on February 8, 1913, in the postoffice building, Portsmouth, at eleven a.m., to establish a register of eligibles for clerk (male or female and carrier (male), from which one or more appointments are expected to immediately follow, and others as the needs of the office may require.

Applicants must be between the ages of 18 and 45 years, (except preference claimants under Section 1754, U. S. C., in whom the maximum age limit does not apply), and must be citizens of the United States.

Male applicants must measure not less than five feet, four inches in height, without shoes, and weigh at least 125 lbs. in ordinary clothing.

For the required application form and a pamphlet of general information outlining specimen examination questions, apply to E. G. Griffin, local secretary, at the postoffice, or Edward F. Robbins, secretary Board of Examiners, Postoffice building, Boston, Mass. Applications should be promptly filled out and filed with the letter not later than 4.30 p.m., Feb. 3, 1913.

LAST SURVIVOR

Capt. John Carr, thought to be the last survivor of the U. S. S. Cumberland sunk by the Merrimack at Hampton roads, Va., during the Civil War, is dead at his home at 45 Mt. Vernon street, Charlestown. When the Cumberland was sunk there was thought to have been a crew of 400 men aboard, 400 of whom were lost.

Capt. Carr was born in Ireland 70 years ago, coming to this country at the age of 10 and settling in Boston. When grown he obtained employment as a longshoreman. He enlisted in the federal navy at the outbreak of the war, serving until peace was declared. In later years he was captain of an East Boston ferry boat, holding this post 25 years, and until about six years ago, when he retired.

SOLUTION FOR R. R. PROBLEM

terest we of New England have regulated our situation as a whole, and in the decisions against us in the matter of our differentials we of New England see our common danger of being ignored in national councils.

"To the extent that New England naturally stands apart from the rest of the country, we must inevitably stand together.

"My suggestion would be that we might find a way to establish a permanent board with the power of all our states behind it. Could we not constitute the six chairmen of the commission having power over transportation in their states as a New England transportation commission.

"The fundamental difficulty in the present situation is that we have one railroad system covering all New England, which we are attempting to regulate by six separate commissions. "My ideal is that the scope of the work of this New England transportation Company should be broad. The commission should call upon the retail roads to provide such facilities for New England as may be requisite; they should also determine whether New England rates are upon a proper basis and use their influence to make the rates in and out of New England favorable to the development of this region.

"In connection therewith the financing of these improvements must necessarily be considered; and the general policy of the states in regard to the railroads should be discussed.

It may be said that the orders of this New England transportation commission cannot be given the force of law; but this commission would prove to be a very formidable board to deal with. No corporation would dare to disregard instructions from a body made up of the executive heads of the state commissions; and the recommendations of such a board ought to insure identical legislation in the various legislatures. It would have behind its decisions the virtual authority of the six commissions to say nothing of the united opinion of the six states. "No one believes more strongly than I in the policy of regulation; but I am not at all sure that regulation alone will solve our New England problem where we are absolutely dependent for our prosperity upon a single railroad system.

"I am inclined to insist that we must have a voice in the management of the appointment of a certain number of directors in order to feel secure of our future.

RAILROAD NOTES

Once more the date of issue of a new time card, for the Boston and Maine has been changed from February 3 to Feb. 10.

Joint legislative committee on rules of Massachusetts legislature voted Thursday against orders for an investigation of East Boston tunnel tolls and an investigation of Boston Elevated.

The bridge department of the Boston and Maine road has obtained permission to close the Charles River trestle bridge at North station for four weeks commencing Feb. 5, an account of installing new towers and frame work.

It is the consensus of opinion at the Maine State House that the Governor and Aroostook road will eventually, and perhaps soon, come into control of either Boston and Maine or Canadian Pacific.

Within next few days Postmaster General Hitchcock, it is expected will materially change the present parcel post rate rates and classifications. Books will probably be admitted at the new rates, and there will undoubtedly be a reduction of charges on other articles on the longer distances.

C. H. Holmes & Co., of this city have been awarded the contract for the construction of a new depot for the Boston & Maine at Hinsdale, N. H.

In surveying and preparing plans for a new bridge across the river the railroad engineers have selected a new location said to be 500 feet above the present bridge.

The Boston and Maine is getting out plans for modern structures of steel to replace the wooden bridges on the Saco branch between Concord and Hooksett.

The plans include a double track bridge at Bow to carry the tracks of the steam road as well as the tracks of the electric road, thereby doing away with the crossovers at that point, as well as the services of a signal man to protect trains and electric cars in transit in the joint use of the old wooden bridge, which has recently had to be strengthened by placing horses beneath it.

The plans will also include the replacement of the three bridges across the river near the junction of the branch with the main line at Hooksett.

Bids for the construction of the bridges will be asked as soon as plans are completed and it is expected that the work will be undertaken during the coming spring.

Put aside just once—the Salts, Cathartics, Castor Oil or Purgative. Cascarets will merely force a passage way through the bowels, but does not thoroughly cleanse, purify, and freshen these alimentary organs and have no effect whatever on the liver and stomach.

Keep your inside organs pure and fresh with Cascarets, which thoroughly cleanse the stomach, remove the undigested food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the intestines and bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will make you feel great by morning. They work while you sleep—never gripe, sicken, and cost only 10 cents a box from your druggist. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never have headache, biliousness, coated tongue, indigestion, sour stomach, or constipated bowels. Cascarets belong in every household. Children just love to take them.

MISS PRYOR IS THE DEAN

Nasson Institute at Springvale Dedicated With Large Attendance.

(Special to The Herald)

Springvale, Me., Jan. 25.—The dedicatory exercises in connection with the establishment of Nasson Institute for Young Women, Maine's first vocational school, were held in the Assembly hall of the new building last evening at 8 o'clock. The dedicatory address was delivered by Miss Sarah Louise Arnold, Dean of Simmons College, Boston, who from the first has been an enthusiastic friend of the Institute and its vocational matters. Among others to speak and to bring felicitations to the townspeople and the state upon the establishment of the Institute and its vocational opportunities to young women were Dean Hart of the University of Maine, Hon. Payson Smith, state superintendent of schools, and Mrs. George F. French of Portland, representing the Federated Women's clubs of Maine. Music was furnished by the Schubert Trio of North Berwick, and a vocal solo was rendered by Mrs. Charlotte Gile in a most acceptable manner. At the conclusion of the exercises an opportunity was given to the guests to inspect the building and equipment.

The Institute has been established under the provision of the will of George Nasson of Springvale, who died Sept. 17, 1882. Among his bequests was a sum of money for the establishment of a school for the education of young women.

This money became available in 1904. In carrying out the provision of Mr. Nasson's will the trustees of the Nasson estate took their first step in the establishment of the Institute in 1908, when they incorporated themselves as the Trustees of the Nasson Institute. After long and careful consideration the trustees decided to establish the Institute as a vocational and home-making school, to educate and train young women for self-help, and independent livelihood the career of the home and the business of living. Important conferences were held with Hon. Payson Smith, state superintendent of schools in Maine, and Miss Sarah Louise Arnold, the dean of Simmons College, Boston. From these and other leading educators within and outside the state the vocational educational program in the mind of the trustees was given the heartiest endorsement, as being in line with the needs of the times and the present trend in educational thought and effort. With every encouragement to proceed in the establishment of the Institute, the trustees engaged architects for the building and took steps to secure at the earliest possible moment an able, competent and experienced woman for dean, to organize the school and administer its affairs. Ground for the building was broken June 4. The trustees secured for dean, Miss Louise I. Pryor, head of the Hampshire Normal school at Keene. Others of the faculty are Miss Edith B. Hunt and Miss Helena Marco. All three received their vocational training at Simmons college. Although the building was not ready for occupancy the first of October, the time set for the opening of the school, work was begun in temporary quarters. The entering class numbered 22 young women and represented 19 towns and three states. With the beginning of the second term Jan. 7, another student has been enrolled from New York.

The Institute is vocational and patterned after Simmons college. It is designed to educate young women for an independent livelihood, the career of the home and the business of living. One and two year programs are offered in household economics and secretarial studies. Courses include cooking, sewing, household administration, household science, English, hygiene, history, elocution, shorthand, typewriting, accounts, commercial law, business methods, etc.

Graduates of approved high schools or schools of equivalent grade are admitted without examination for the two year course. For the one-year course (a) Experienced teachers who wish to prepare themselves to teach vocational subjects in the public schools; (b) Graduates of approved high schools or schools of equivalent grade who wish to fit themselves for the management and care of a home; (c) Special students who can give satisfactory assurance of their fitness for the work may enter upon special courses. The tuition has been made but $50 a year in order to bring the advantages of the school within the reach of as many young women as possible.

OBITUARY

Willis L. Hadden.

Willis L. Hadden, a former resident of this city, and at one time city messenger and clerk of the board of fire engineers, died at his home, 70 Southwestern avenue, Dorchester, Mass., on Friday evening. Mr. Hadden was born in Newburyport, Sept. 15, 1818, and when two years of age his parents moved to Portsmouth, where he was educated in the public schools. At the age of 16 he enlisted in Co. K, First New Hampshire Heavy Artillery, Sept. 11, 1864, and was mustered out June 16, 1865. After his discharge from the service he worked at the machine business for three years.

He married Josephine Baker, in Newmarket, March 12, 1888, who survives him and he also leaves two sons, Rupert L. and Roy B. Hadden. His mother, Mary B. Hadden, who is 88 years of age, still lives in Dorchester, and he leaves one sister, Mrs. Ella F. Willey, wife of Charles Willey of Scarborough, N. H.

He was deputy collector of internal revenue, third Massachusetts district, under Col. Orritt, June 16, 1892, and was discharged from that service in May, 1894. He was reappointed in June, 1897, and continued to hold his office to the time of his death. He was a member of Gen. Lander Post No. 4, A. R. of Lynn. NEWCASTLE

It may pass even as these words are read, but unquestionably the soft touch of ethereal mildness has been felt upon the Island town during the past week. The upward range of the thermometer during the past few days has been unprecedented. The up-thrusting of the early flower spikes in many of the gardens give a welcome promise and yet we do not need to tell ourselves that this cannot last, that undoubtedly King Winter will get us yet.

Mrs. Harry Amazeen after a brief visit with Mrs. Adelle M. Frost has returned to her home in Portsmouth.

Mr. B. C. Magoon is able to be out after a restriction to his home by a heavy cold.

Mrs. Edith Elders is confined to her residence by illness.

Mr. Abram Manson is seriously ill with appendicitis at the Cottage hospital.

The tickets are now on sale for the "Old Folks" concert to be given in Pythian hall Feb. 14.

Mrs. H. N. Curtis has returned from a brief sojourn in Boston.

Mr. Andrew H. White has returned from a trip to Lynn.

Mr. Paul Kervan who has been the guest of Mr. Stephen Patch and family has returned to his home in Manchester.

The late E. Payson Yeaton of Raymond was brought to Riverside cemetery for interment.

AN ANCIENT ANTI-GOLF LAW.

Perth, where golf is now a municipal institution, is the city where the first act was passed forbidding the playing of "Golf, football or other unprofitable sports." That was in 1424 and James I. was the culprit, directing his laws against his subjects while playing the game himself on the North Inch. The golf club there is older by centuries than James the Sixth, though it bears his name. When that monarch became James I. of England, he brought his liking for the game southwards. He issued letters patent at Salisbury to William Berwick for the making of golf balls for twenty-one years. The reason would delight Mr. Bonar Law. It was to prevent so much British money going out of the country to pay for golf balls made in Holland.—London Chronicle.

SCHEDULE J. TO PAY REVENUE

Washington, Jan. 24.—More than 10 per cent of all the tariff revenue for 1913 was raised from schedule J, consideration of which the House Committee on Ways and Means began today.

Linen, lace and linoleum, water hose, curtains, cables and cordage, tapes and lampies, and a variety of other manufactures of flax, hemp, jute, ramie and so on are embraced in the schedule, on which the Government last year derived $40,000,000 of revenue, from imports whose aggregate valuation reached $108,698,000. The ad valorem rate now averages 65 per cent.

All along the line, luxuries are to be taxed on a high duty basis under the Democratic program for the coming extra session. Most of the large number of items in this schedule come under the luxury classification. Under the present law the great bulk of boxes for curtains, pillow shams, wearing apparel and many other uses pay 60 per cent, and some other faces as high as 70 per cent ad valorem.

Cotton collars are now dutiable at 45 cents a dozen and 15 per cent ad valorem, and linen collars 40 cents a dozen and 20 per cent ad valorem. Democratic members of the committee think that the schedule generally is highly competitive, and that, while most of the articles will not be disturbed materially, there will be reductions on many where the committee believes it can cut with help for the revenue.

Out of 11 schedules in the tariff law 11 already have been disposed of, so far as the hearings are concerned. There have yet to appear the witnesses on flax, hemp and jute today; wool next Monday and sundries next Wednesday.

The free list, administrative features and miscellaneous matters will wind up the hearings on Jan. 31.

About 40 manufacturers, importers and others were on the program of witnesses for today, representing the National associations, of several industries and large manufacturing and importing establishments.

NOW IN VOGUE.

The most approved train for the evening gown is long and narrow.

The characteristics of mantles this season is that few of them reach the hem of the skirt.

Bolero coats of plain velvet in odd colors are still holding their place in fashion's favor.

Many of the new blouses have broad sailor collars, and these give an opportunity to trim an otherwise plain waist.

Moleskin is one of the fashionably fur that trim beautifully with ermine. This fur combination is much worn in scarf and muff sets.

The drop skirt has returned. Satin of the costume color is used for the drop. The skirts are being made for use with cloth and velvet suits.

There are handbags of moire and velvet elaborately embroidered or beaded. Some have metal clasps adorned with jewels, while others are closed with a heavy cord.

Many of the newest large jabots are composed of three and four different kinds of lace. Chumy, French tulle, Irish crochet and shadow laces may all be combined with good effect.

NEW GENERAL SECRETARY OF THE YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION.

The Board of Directors of the Young Men's Christian Association have engaged Mr. Charles A. Parker to fill the position of General Secretary which was recently made vacant by the resignation of Mr. Alfred G. Booth.

He is thirty-four years old, married, and has two boys aged nine and five respectively. He is a man of pleasing personality and comes well recommended by the state committee.

The indications are that the Association will continue to grow in favor and usefulness under his direction. He will begin his duties next Monday.

GET OUT YOUR "OLD FARMER'S" AND SEE HOW PREDICTIONS COME TRUE.

Many city people have been known to deride the old farmer, who always gauges his actions by the almanac—what the weather is going to be and when to plant his crops—but why shouldn't he?

So far this winter the almanac has had the weather "doped" right from the start, having outguessed the United States weather bureau to a stand still.

In the "Old Farmer's" almanac the weather man said for the 3d of January to look for colder weather, and we had it. Between the 6th and 8th came the prediction for snow or rain, and we certainly got it, for on the 7th we had a snowstorm which gave us sleighing for a number of days, and then we had three or four days of good cold weather, which was also predicted. On the 14th the almanac writer told us to look for a decided moderation until the 17th, and then we were to expect rain. That was also right, for on the night of the 17th it rained quite hard, and since then we have had mild days until Tuesday, when it was cold enough to allow good skating on the Artichoke, but today it has turned warm again with rain and that is what we are told to expect until Monday, when we are to get raw and blustering winds, followed by rain or snow from the 25th until the 7th of February when there will be a great moderation.

The "Old Farmer's" almanac, however, was not the only one to strike it right. The Armour almanac said: "Year opens with mild spell. Nights cold and days bluish in the Middle Atlantic and New England states. Wind and rain storms on the Pacific slope and cold weather. Blustery from the 9th to 12th. Luck changes on the 13th. From that to 17th a cold wave. Weather very cold in all the Western States."

Then from the 18th to the 22d the Armour's almanac struck the nail on the head, for they said: "A pleasant period, tempting the early spring poets to begin preliminary exercises. Soft, balmy weather enswathed from Texas to the Carolinas, and we certainly have had it. The early spring poets referred to were probably the youthful ball tossers, who were beginning their preliminary exercises last week."

How it is these weather storms of the almanacs always seem to strike it right is a mystery, but year in and year out they always seem to forecast the weather predictions as well as if not better sometimes than the experts at Washington and the other stations scattered around the country.

Maybe the old farmer knows a thing or two after all—it looks that way. Just buy an almanac some time and see for yourself.

OLD RIVER MEN.

Levi W. Lord and Andrew J. Goddick enjoy the distinction of being the two oldest living men who were engaged in steamboating on the Piscataqua river. Mr. Lord was for many years engineer of the tug Clara Balemam, the first craft to do towing on the river, and Mr. Goddick was mate of the tug in 1878. Mr. Lord is now retired, but Mr. Goddick works on the navy yard.
